

DigiTalk conversation cards for Teens

DigiTalk | Teens

What do
people your age think about sharing photos?

DigiTalk | Teens

Can you tell me how you know if something you see is real?

DigiTalk | Teens

What would you do if you saw a friend having a hard time because of what was happening online?

DigiTalk | Teens

How do you know when you've had a bit too much time on one
app or site?

DigiTalk | Teens

Can you show
me what I can do to monitor
the time I spend on my phone?

How do I keep track of any updates to apps, and know what the changes might mean?

What sort of things do you want to avoid when you go online? Why?

Have you ever wanted to block someone from communicating with you or sharing things? Did you end up doing it?

What do you know about AI and how it can create things?

If you could make up the rules for what you're allowed to do online, What would they be?

Would you rather live in a world with or without social media? Why?

If you could change one thing about the internet, what would it be?

digitalk.org.au

What do you like about being online?

digitalk.org.au

Do your friends have any tips they share with you about keeping things positive online?

digitalk.org.au

Do you think you act differently online than offline?

digitalk.org.au

How to use your DigiTalk conversation cards at home:

Step 1:

Print out this sheet and cut out the DigiTalk conversation cards.

Step 2:

Choose an option that suits your family – you can try one approach or experiment with all three.

Option 1 - Choose your own adventure: Place the cards on your kitchen table face down and draw a card from the deck. Use that to start your chat.

Option 2 - Plan the week: Stick a different card on the fridge each week and make it a priority to chat about that topic some time across the week.

Option 3 - Share the responsibility: Lay out all the cards on the table face up. Take turns with your child and each choose a topic to discuss until you have worked through them all.

No matter how you choose to use the cards, it's important to have the DigiTalk. And don't forget, these topics are just the start. Your family's DigiTalk should grow and evolve along with your family.